We had their beef tartar and pork belly to start and a salmon dish and lamb meal for mains. Everything was incredible! I could go on at length about how all the listed ingredients really make their dishes amazing but honestly you just need to go.

A bit outside of downtown montreal but take the metro out and its less than a 10 minute walk from the station.',0,0,0),

They are known for smoked meat which most delis have but their brisket sandwich is what I come to montreal for. Theyve got about 12 seats outside to go along with the inside.

The smoked meat is up there in quality and taste with Schwartzs and you will find less tourists at Lesters as well.',0,0,0),

The food speaks for itself, so good. Burgers are made to order and the meat is put on the grill when you order your sandwich. Getting the small burger just means 1 patty, the regular is a 2 patty burger which is twice the deliciousness.

Getting the Cajun fries adds a bit of spice to them and whatever size you order they always throw more fries (a lot more fries) into the bag.',0,0,0),

If youre looking for a light breakfast then head out here. Perfect spot for a coffee\/latt√© before heading out to the old port',0,0,0),

Not quite the same as Chinatown in terms of pricing (slightly higher) but definitely one of the better Vietnamese restaurants outside of the neighbourhood. When I dont have time to go to Chinatown, this is the next best thing as it is down the street from me.

So far the only items I have tried are the phos (beef, chicken & vegetarian) - and they have not disappointed me! Especially the chicken pho.

Next time I go back, Im going to try the banh cuon (steamed rice noodle) and the vermicelli!',0,0,2), Cute, quaint coffee shop with nice muskoka chairs outside.

BF ordered an ice coffee and really enjoyed it! Guess we will be back bad!! Love that there is a gluten-free, vegan version of the cheese curds and gravy!!

Havent done the poutine taste test yet with smokes but Im excited to see which is better. However poutinis might win as they are vegan and gluten-free',1,0,0), this place!

Peggy is great with dogs and does a great job! She is very patience with him and will make any adjustments you need before you leave the store. My little guy has no problems coming here.

They also have very good bully sticks (the non-smelly ones) that my little guy and his friends love!',3,0,0), currently my parents new favourite restaurant.

We come here in the morning for dim sum. They are not the cart pushing type of dim sum, it is order off of the sheet. Dim sum is not bad and not expensive either.

We also frequent the dinner scene. Their set dinner menu is not bad. We typically order a 6 dish menu and its big enough to feed a family of 9 with leftovers.

Overall, food is pretty tasty!',1,0,0);
